DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The relative biasing potentials applied to the shield, well and substrate is unclear from this recitation. Also, inventive structure of claim 9 is not understood, nor is this feature apparent in the drawings. How would this limitation apply if the floating gates were formed at different levels as shown in Fig. 4?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4, and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Caprara et al (5,440,510). The reference to Caprara, for example as shown in Fig. 2, discloses the inventive structure with a memory element having a floating gate (10), a control gate (12), and a shield (15) isolated from the floating gate and covering it. In addition, a potential is applied to a well in the substrate at region (21), and the shield is also coupled to the substrate at region (14). In the memory arrangement shown by Caprara, the substrate would inherently shield the floating gate, as well.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Caprara in view of Shukuri et al. While Caprara teaches the basic structure of the invention, he does not explicitly discuss a plurality of floating gates or supply structures with a plurality of levels. These features are shown by Shukuri, for example in Fig. 20, where segmented floating gates (202(FGT)) are shown, along with a supply structure having multiple levels including metallization layers (206), (208) and (210). Each of these supply levels also covers the floating gate as a shield.

One skilled in the art would be motivated to combine these references in order to achieve the increased device density that results from the Shukuri configuration.
